

Santander GO Dynamic Bond

11 / 2024

Fund commentary

Performance:

Santander GO DBF returned 0.86% in the month of November. In November, the fixed income market experienced a rally across various geographies and maturities, reversing some of the losses from October. U.S. Treasury 10-year yields rallied by 12 basis points, while German 10-year yields saw a more significant rally of 30 basis points. European bonds performed strongly due to expectations of deeper rate cuts from the ECB amidst political and fiscal uncertainties in countries like Germany and France. In contrast, Japan's bond market diverged, with JGB yields rising as the 10-year yield moved back above 1%. Overall, the bond market's positive response was driven by geopolitical tensions, political changes, and central bank actions, with the U.S. bond market showing a more muted response due to strong economic indicators.
